

Matias, 3, El Salvador

Matias

Matias is a 3-year-old boy who lives with his grandmother in El Salvador. He is often in pain, battling constant intestinal issues.

His grandmother, Isidra, does everything she can for her grandson, but jobs are scarce, so there is little money for nutritious food. His meals consist mostly of beans and corn from subsistence farming.

Food and proper nutrition are critical for growing children like Matias. Without it, their bodies are too weak to fend off infections and illnesses that other children easily overcome.

Your loving gift to Food For The Poor provides Matias, and children like him, with food and lifesaving medicine.
